WEEK B

“Respect your body when it’s asking for a break. Respect your mind when it’s seeking rest. Honour yourself when you need a moment for yourself”.

Dear Parents and Carers,

Year 11 Mock Exams

Good luck to Year 11 next week! The mocks are an important practice for students of the rules, organisation, environment and emotions of exams. However, their most important purpose is to assess where students are academically, identify strengths and weaknesses, and help shape teachers’ programmes of study and revision approaches in the spring and summer terms.

In terms of our expectations, students must attend the normal timetabled lessons when not in exams. Students are not expected to go to morning registration if they have an exam; they must go to registration if they do not have an exam; all students must go to afternoon registration.

Exam regulations are the same as for Year 10 exams last year: black pens, clear pencil case, no labels on water bottles, absolutely no phones or internet-enabled devices, no watches of any description, no calculator backs, no sweets unless medical and also in clear plastic. Unlike in the “real exams” next summer, in the Hall students will be allowed to bring bags and put them at their feet, to avoid the crowding in the changing rooms. Students are not allowed to wear coats in the Hall (there’s no need in other exam rooms), unless the Hall is clearly cold.

If you have any questions or worries, please contact us. If it is a subject concern, please contact your child’s teacher. If it is a welfare/well-being issue, please contact your child’s tutor. If it’s an exam-related enquiry, please e-mail exams@clystvale.org

The Year 11 exams affect the whole College to some extent. Students in other years are expected to be quiet near the exam areas of the Hall, Additional Support, and Meeting Room 1, especially during lesson changeovers. We are also using some staff offices in the Main Block, too.

Attendance

Over the term to date, overall attendance is just 0.1% below the national average. This is reassuring, but of course it could be better: last week, for example, wasn’t good in that attendance was 1.4% below national. More positive news is that persistent absentees are 3% below national, and overall attendance is 1% above the Devon average. Tracking attendance is important, especially as it’s now a feature on Ofsted headlines, but from an individual family point of view it may seem all a bit theoretical. At an individual level, maximum attendance is the key, as it has a direct correlation to academic success; 90% attendance is a worry – equivalent to a day absent each fortnight. Thank you very much for all you do to ensure good attendance for your children; and please let us know if you are having difficulty so that we can work together to improve attendance.

Big Ambition Reminder

We have received the following (I’ve abridged it somewhat) from Dame Rachel de Souza (Children’s Commissioner for England: “‘The Big Ambition’ survey will enable me to hear directly from children and young people about what they need from the government to make their lives better. Ahead of the General Election, it has never been more important for young people to have their voices heard. The survey is still open and there is [sic] still several weeks left for children to fill it in. You can access the survey here: www.childrenscommissioner.gov.uk/thebigambition .

Ofsted Inspections

Mentioning the “O” word, the start of my time in school senior leadership in Sept 1993 coincided with the first Ofsted inspections. Although disappointed that they have outlasted me, I have been cheered up by two interesting developments this week. One inquiry chaired by former schools minister Lord Jim Knight – suggests inspection is done by trusts and local authorities, based on self-evaluation by schools who also review each other. Meanwhile think tank the Institute for Public Policy Research (IPPR) brought out a report which recommends an end to the simplistic reductionism of judging a school or college via a single grade. Schools must be accountable; it’s just how it is done that’s been the issue for thirty years.

Flood Action Week 21-27 November

Devon County Council has issued a Flood Bulletin to coincide with Flood Action Week. I found it quite interesting and informative, even if it is a couple of weeks after the floods happened. Anyway, if you’re interested, the website version is on <https://content.govdelivery.com/accounts/UKDEVONCC/bulletins/37b1a42>

Traffic News

If you drop your child off in the coach park in the morning, please pull down as far as you can. Above all, don’t stop on the yellow hatching as it causes near-misses and backing up on to the road.

Best wishes,

Kevin Bawn

Year 7 Boys Rugby: Clyst Vale 25-15 Kings Ottery

Congratulations to the Year 7 lads who went four from four in their latest fixture versus Kings School, Ottery. The boys found the opposition to be the strongest this season as Kings' tackling and physicality took persistence to break down. Skipper, Sonny won the toss and decided to kick off down the slope, with the boys taking a four try lead into the break. The first score was the best on the eye, with several phases leading to three long passes being made over to the flying winger, Will to score in the corner. More pressure was applied with tall Joe racing over to dot down under the posts, with Harry P and Harry C finishing well in the same corner, respectively. Joe did all but dot the ball down over the line with another charging break, however the hosts were well on top come the half time whistle.

The second half brought some changes in personnel for the hosts, with four changes. This did stunt the flow of the CVCC team, however the rallied to finish the game strongly with scores through fly-half Charlie and second row, Max. Jack continued to carry and tackle well throughout the game, with Cian linking play between forwards and backs well, as well as giving CVCC some much needed forward direction. Leo continued to impress with some fantastic carries and defence up front, Oliver showing excellent handling and rucking skills in the close quarters, Henry committed himself well in attack and defence. Ruben made a big impact on the wing after half time, jinking up the touchline, Josh made a couple of powerful runs in the midfield and Sonny had a near certain try narrowly held up and another adjudged for a double movement. Jackson tackled very well in the back line and Ollie retained the ball very well on the wing. Well done to all of the squad!

Mr Pearce

Cross Country Round 2

Another wonderful day of athletics took place on Thursday with the second round of the area cross country. Once again hosted by Blundells School but with round one's course run in reverse, it was the best of Exeter versus the best East Devon had to offer. In the junior girls the competition was very tough with the mud claiming shoes and some fallers! Willow ran home a respectable 12 and will have wait to see if she qualifies. Siblings Kate and Ruthie also navigated the bogs and slopes with comparative ease but finished outside qualifying. The boys followed and Noah skipped across the quagmires, his quick gait an advantage over some the bigger runners. Like Ruthie, Noah was a year young for the category and he also ran in outside the top 12 qualifiers. The event took an odd turn as inter boys were asked to step up a distance and race along side senior boys over 5km. However, both Jasper and Ollie were unphased and recorded the highest finishes for Clyst Vale in 5th and 7th. Both will move onto the county round and meet the top runners in Devon. Superb effort, camaraderie and behaviour from our Clyst Vale athletes.

Congratulations to Bryn Matthews of 10YSS

On Tuesday 14 November, members of Devon Youth Chamber Brass represented the Hub at the Music For Youth Proms, performing as part of this year's Creative Project, a new brand new work by composer Jack Pepper. One of the highlights of the music education calendar, the Music for Youth Proms take place annually at London's iconic Royal Albert Hall, showcasing talented young musicians from all corners of the UK.

As you will be aware, the following pupil from your school were part of this group:

Bryn Matthews: 10YSS

All of the young musicians involved performed brilliantly and behaved with the utmost professionalism throughout what was undoubtedly a very long day. By participating in this event they have experienced the thrill of performing in one of the world's great concert venues; premiered a brand new composition by a leading composer; worked with professional musicians and technicians as part of a high profile production; heard and seen inspiring performances by other talented young people from across the UK; and supported each other through the day, demonstrating empathy, team work and resilience.

Attendance, Absence and Requests for Absence

Please let the College know of any absence on the first day it occurs. If the absence continues beyond the first day, please contact the College on each subsequent day of absence, too. To comply with safeguarding obligations, we cannot simply assume a student's sickness absence is ongoing; we need to be certain that the reason for absence is due to continuing illness.

If you do not notify the College, then we will make contact with you to identify the reason for absence. This is important as it helps to reduce unauthorised absences and truancy.

Please note, the College may ask you to provide medical proof if a student is absent from College due to illness.

Medical Appointments

We encourage students to maximise their levels of attendance; research indicates a direct link between attendance and examination performance. The timing of many medical appointments means that often students can attend school first, and return afterwards. By doing so, students minimise missed learning whilst keeping their attendance levels as high as possible. Therefore, we ask that parents/carers send their child into school for morning registration, even when a medical appointment takes place in the middle of the morning. Similarly, appointments scheduled for the afternoon should, where possible, be arranged after Period 4 - during lunchtime. Students are encouraged to return to school after a lunchtime appointment, if they can.

Thank you for your support in helping your child maximise their attendance and learning.
